WHAT IS LIFE AT LA GRANGE

Studies, ball games, meetings, dates and dances-all these make up the wonderful year of 1960 at LaGrange High School. In some ways it seemed like any other year, but for each one of us, there were experiences and honors that set this one apart from all others.

To the freshmen, this was a year of adjustment to high school life. To the sophomores and juniors it meant moving closer to their goal and to their year of greatest importance. For the seniors, this was the year of all years. They enjoyed all the special privileges and rights granted to seniors. They looked forward with courage and anticipation to a challenging, adult life after commencement.

This year has meant something a little different to each student and faculty member, but to everyone, this was the year for new achievements and growth in our expanding school life.

DIVERSION

Paper mache' masks were one of the interesting projects in the high school art classes. Here Jeanne Buttle is seen hard at work.

IS A PART OF EDUCATION

Through supervised classes, pupils are free to branch out and form their own ideas or develop discovered abilities. Three members of the newly-organized dance band work out a new beat during free periods or after school.

Here are shown some of our future industrialists. They are only a few of the boys in LaGrange High School who are looking into the field of manual arts and industry. They are learning how to make practical items and also preparing themselves for jobs later on in industry. The boys are under the guidance of Mr. Pruski.

Shop and Ag classes

These Future Farmers of America boys learn to repair all types of farm machinery and keep it in good working order. Besides keeping up-to-date in farming methods, the boys also participate in many county wide activities such as the parliamentary procedure contest and cattle and soil judging.

Some of the members attended FFA camp and also the convention. This year the chapter sent Clyde Archer and Joel McRoberts to the National Convention in Kansas City, Missouri. The boys are instructed by Mr. Hyatt.

fill a boy,s day.

THE CAREER GIRL

Something new at LaGrange High this year is the stenorette. This senior girl is shown transcribing a letter. A person dictates to the tape; later the secretary listens and types it in letter form.

These girls are shown concentrating on their typing speed. This is one requirement of a good secretary.

AND FUTURE HOUSEWIFE PRACTICE DAILY

A good homemaker? Yes, that is one point the Home Ec. class at LaGrange stresses. These girls learn to sew and to plan a balanced meal. They believe a healthy person is a happier one.

The advanced classes work on home furnishings and color schemes in the home. All these things help to make a good homemaker.

Learning knows

As necessary as the classes themselves are the tests given to determine the amount retained by the student. Here Mr. Richard Smith is shown testing one of his classes.

no limit

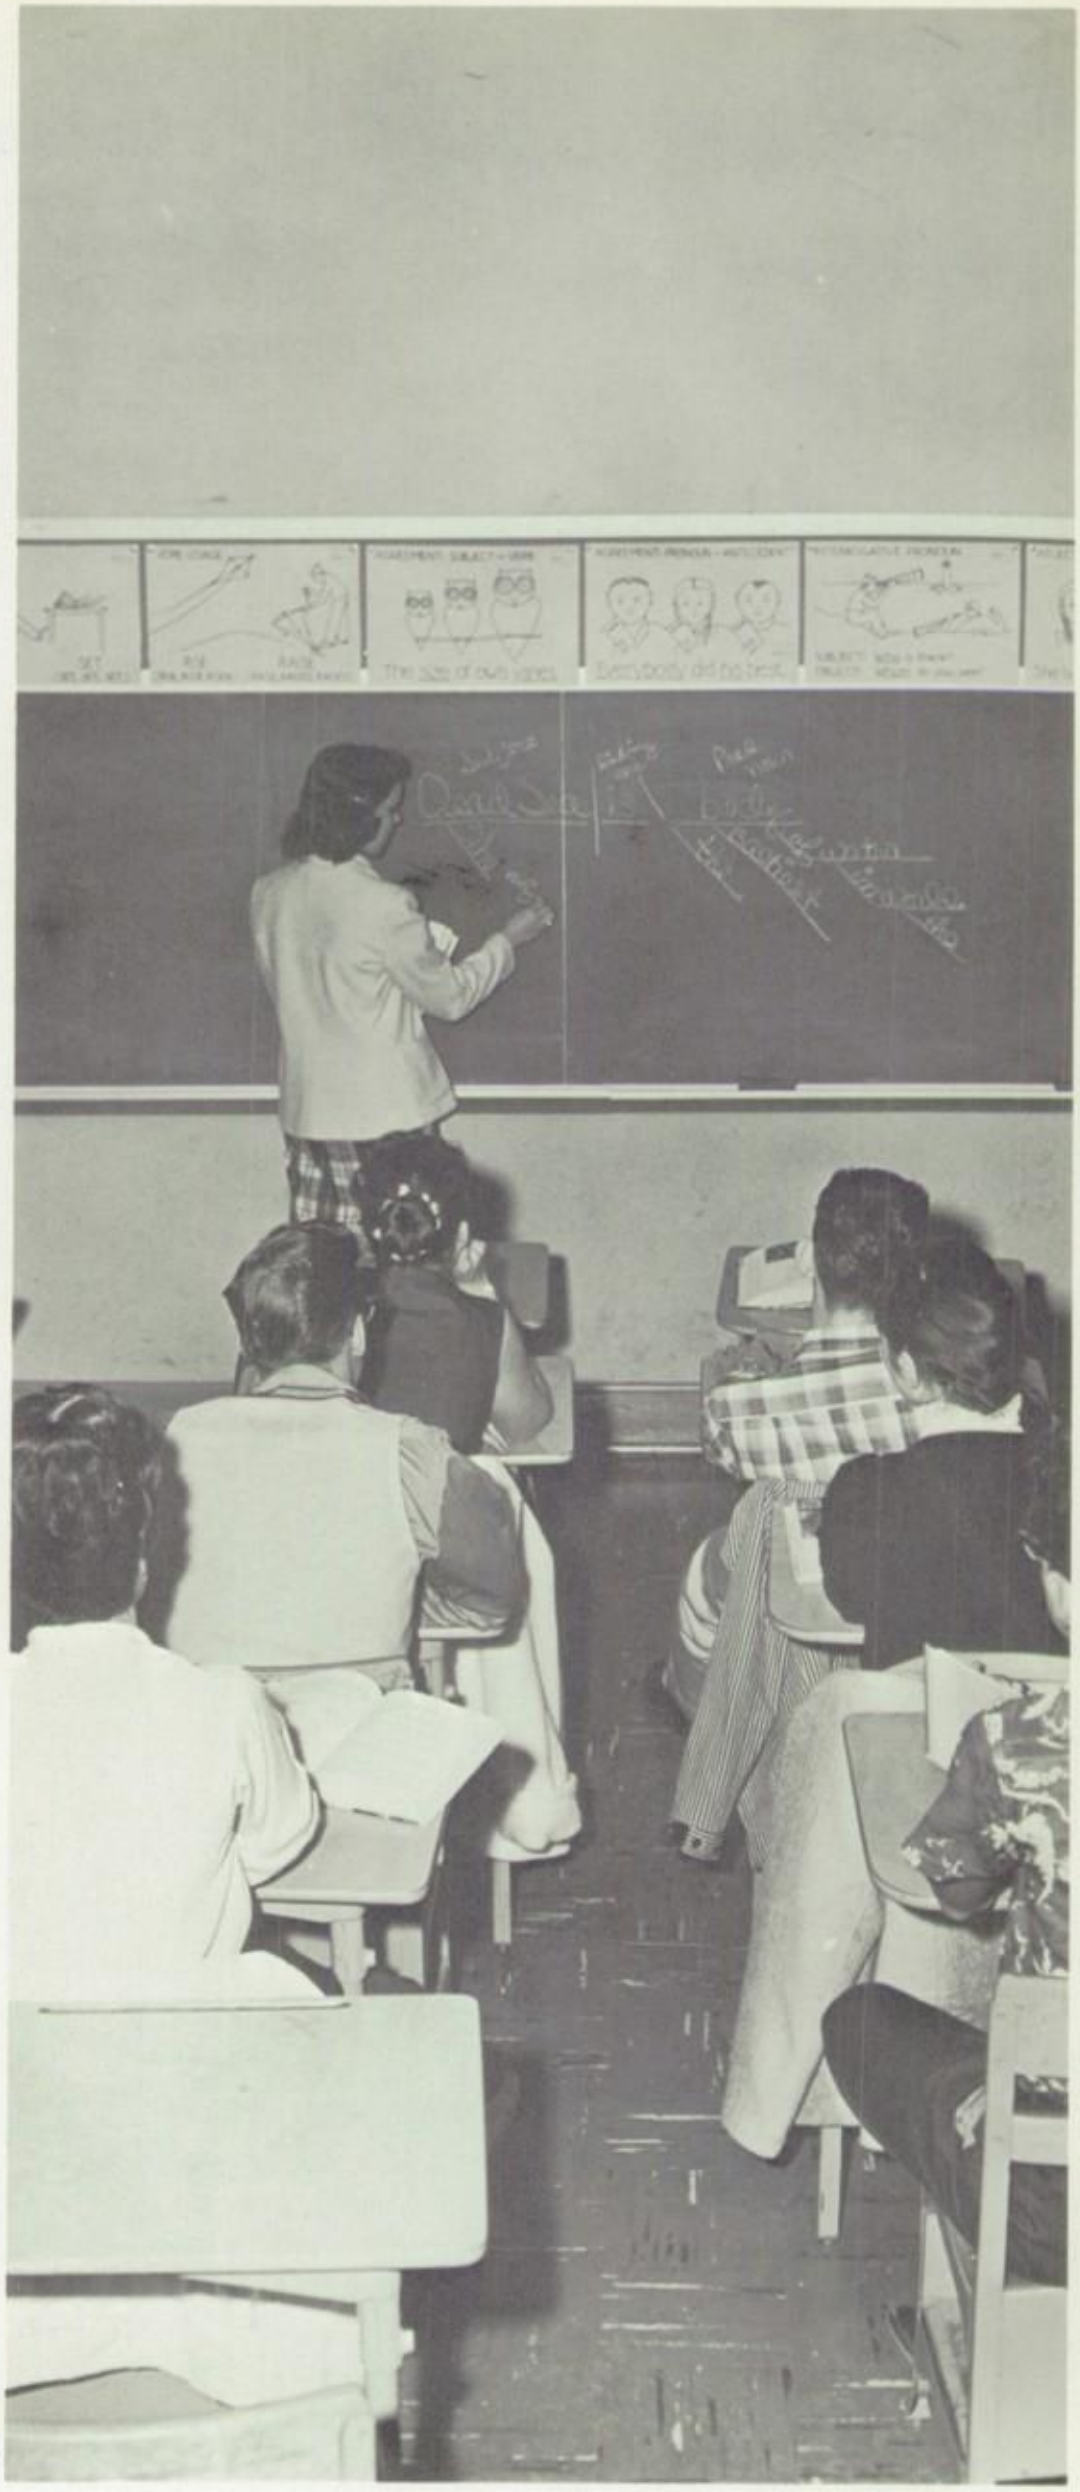
In English the students learn the parts of speech. This helps them in the study of foreign languages as well as helping them to master the English language.



Lunch time often serves as a study hall for some students. In the foreground of this picture we see a few students doing just that thing.

BETWEEN CLASSES

Everyday during lunch hours, the members of the Student Council sell school supplies. This is one of the many services rendered by the Student Council.

AT L. H. S.

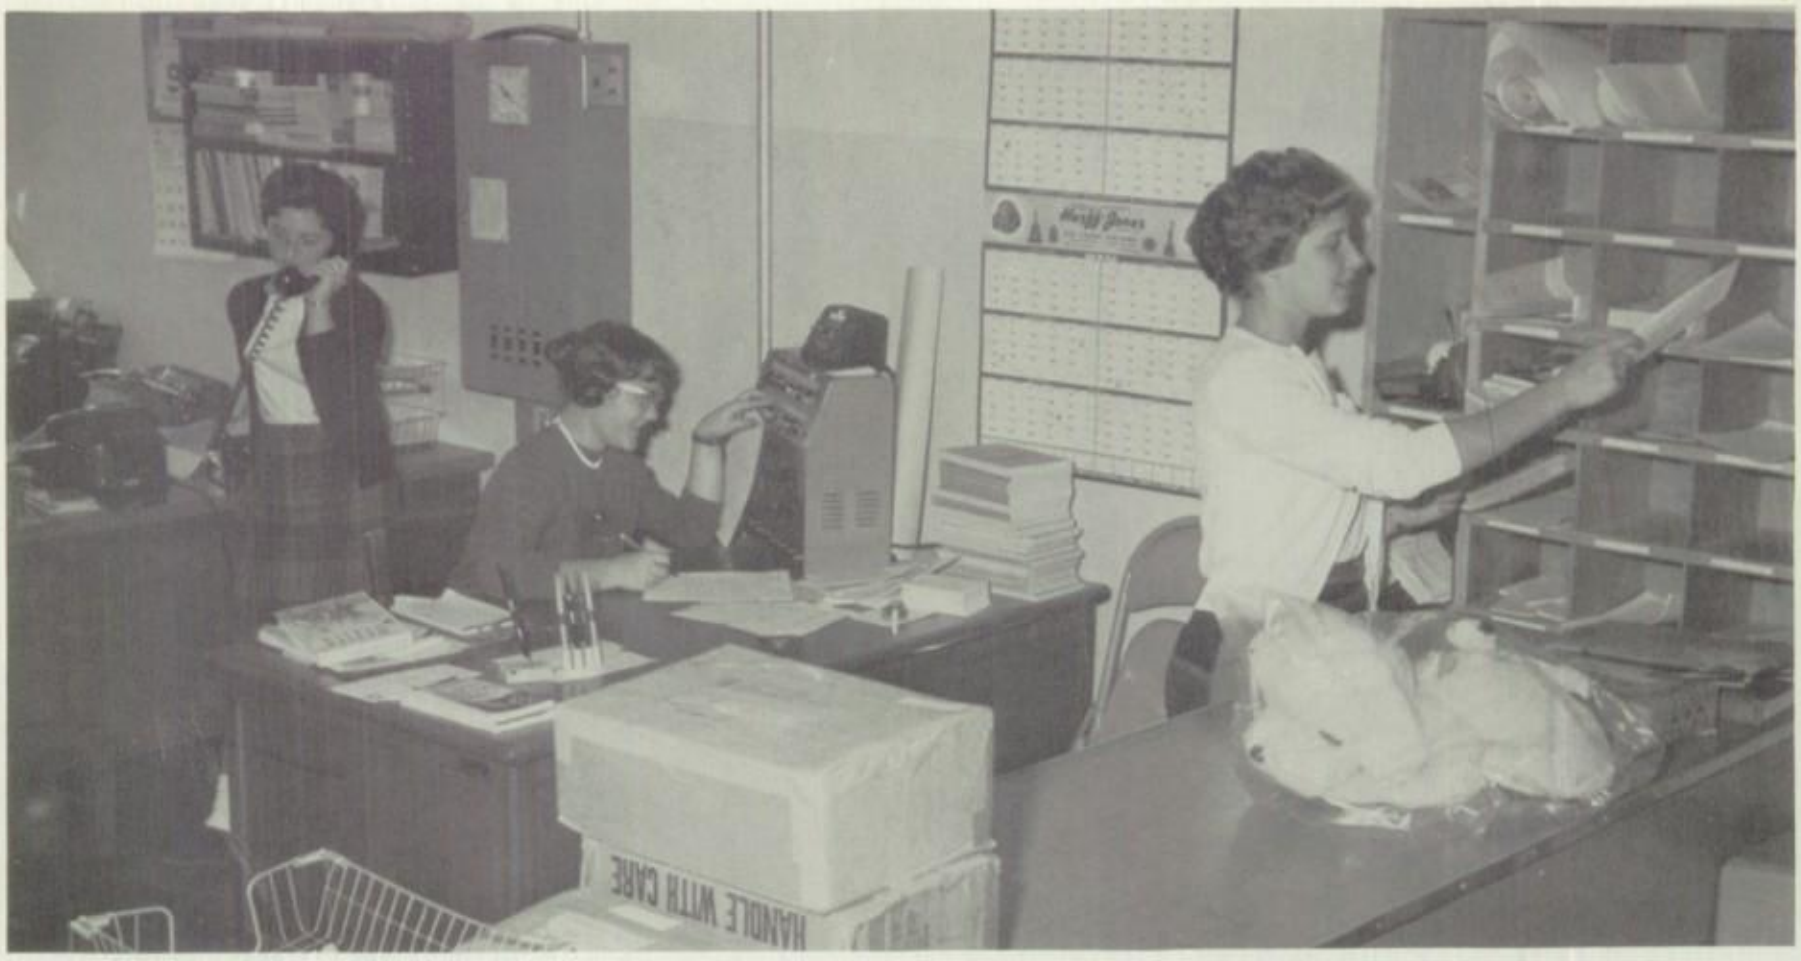
A tall underclassman helps a short upperclassman reach her books.

The usual library scene has students gathering theme material, reading magazines, and hunting for books.



A familiar sight in the office are the girls who work during the day answering the telephone, making announcements over the P.A. system, sorting mail and doing various other errands.

THE SCHOOL EXTENDS BEYOND THE CLASSROOM

One service rendered by members of the Future Teachers of America is taking over elementary classes when a teacher is needed elsewhere. Betty Gleason is shown here helping a first grade class.

Homecoming 1959

The LaGrange High Wildcats elated Queen Pat and her royal court with a 30-6 victory over South Amherst. On the following evening, Queen Pat reigned over the homecoming dance.

KEY STAFF

The 1960 KEY, like Rome, was not built in a day. It had its beginning in the summer of 1959 at the High School Journalism Institute at Indiana University. The editor, Jo Anne Schrock, and layout editor, Lynda Gatz, spent two weeks there making the basic plans for every page of the book.

With the beginning of school in September, the real work began. Ads were sold, pictures taken and copy written, in a frantic rush to get the pages to the printers before the December 30th deadline.

Clockwise are Jo Anne Schrock, Editor; Lynda Gatz, Layout Editor; Ken Sooy, Sports Editor; Dave Jensen, Assistant Editor; and Jeanne Buttle, Art Editor.

This new field inspired the Wildcats, for they turned in their best season since they began 11-man football. The Cats ended the season with a 4-4, for Fifth Place in the Inland Conference. Led by the fine passing of Ron Smink and the running of Ron Hart, the Wildcats gained more than 2500 yards while holding opponents to less than 1800. The season's schedule, with scores, is as follows:

ADMINISTRATION ANI

To the Seniors:

My sincere congratulations to the members of the Senior Class. Parents, teachers and counselors have helped prepare you for the challenges which lie in the field beyond.

The great problems of the future will be in your hands and the world is depending on the graduates of today.

Our interest does not end with your graduation. Your success in life will establish a goal for our undergraduates.

The good wishes of the students, faculty and community go with you in your future endeavors.

O. H. Coontz

This year Mr. Coontz's secretary is Mrs. Eleanor Pryce.

When the books close, and the last bell rings,
And carefree days are lost
to mundane things--
When nostalgia strikes, and your memory wanes,
And you remember the faces
but not the names-- Pick up your yearbook and leaf it through,
And remember the days so
dear to you.
